Bishop Cyrus David Foss, D.D., LL.D.

Of the sixty-one General Superintendents of the Methodist Episcopal Church, beginning with Thomas Coke, elected in 1784, and ending with Frank M. Bristol, elected in 1908, Bishop Foss occupied, in the order of election, the thirty-first place.

Bishop Foss was born at Kingston, New York, January 17, 1834, and died in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, January 29, 1910, at the ripe age of 76 years. The General Conference of 1880 elected four Bishops, namely, Warren, Foss, Hurst, and Haven, only one of whom survives him, namely, our senior Bishop, Warren.

Bishop Foss joined the New York Conference in 1857, after having served Amenia Seminary as teacher and as president for two years, and began his ministry at Chester, New York. This was followed by his transfer to the New York East Conference in 1859. His charges in that Conference were Fleet Street, Hanson Place, and South Fifth Street, in the order named. His transfer to the New York followed in 1865, where he served the following charges, namely, Saint Paul's, Trinity, Saint Paul's, Saint James. In 1875 he was elected president of Wesleyan University, which position he held until his elevation to the episcopacy in 1880.

From an editorial in THE CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE of February 3, 1910, we take the following:

"During the first eight years of Bishop Foss's episcopacy his residence was in Minneapolis, Minnesota, and according to the law at that time, when the episcopal residence in Philadelphia became vacant, he removed to that city, where he resided for the residue of his life. From 1888 to 1906 he was President of the Board of Church Extension of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and for the same period was President of the Philadelphia City Missionary and Church Extension Society. His residence in Philadelphia markedly emphasized the value of such continuous service. He interested himself in every phase of Methodist life, Protestant life, and civic improvement.

"In 1895 THE CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE emphasized his remarkable service as one of the Arbitration Committee which settled what was perhaps the most serious street railway strike ever in Philadelphia, and which was as difficult a problem as any strike of the kind that ever took place in the United States. Time would fail us to speak of his services as delegate to various institutions and conventions, or to more than refer to his oration at the Semi-Centennial of Wesleyan University, his fraternal visit to the British Wesleyan and Irish Wesleyan Conferences, his membership in the Ecumenical Conference at Washington, his faithful trusteeship of The Woman's College of Baltimore, both as a member, and for nine years as president; his services as trustee of the Methodist Hospital of Philadelphia for thirteen years, his tour around the world, his valuable relation to the Drew Theological Seminary and his services in the General Conferences of 1872, 1876, and 1880.

"Bishop Foss was married March 20, 1856, to Miss Mary E. Bradley, of Salisbury, Connecticut, who died September 7, 1863. On May 10, 1865, he was married to Miss Amelia Robertson, of Peekskill, New York, who survives her husband. The children are: Frances T. (Mrs. Francis A. Chamberlain), of Minneapolis, Minnesota; Amelia (Mrs. James R. Thorpe), of Denver, Colorado; Cyrus D. Foss, Jr., of Philadelphia; and Helen (Mrs. George B. Wood), of Philadelphia. Two children died in infancy, and a daughter (Mrs. A. Clarence Weeks), of Alhambra, California, died in 1904, leaving a surviving husband and children. The funeral services of Bishop Foss were held in Arch Street Church, Philadelphia, on Tuesday afternoon. Bishop Wilson, Bishop McDowell, and Dr. F. Mason North, of New York, made the addresses."

Bishop Daniel Ayres Goodsell, D.D., LL.D.

The subject of this memoir was the fifth in a class of five General Superintendents of the Methodist Episcopal Church elected by the General Conference of 1888, and the forty-second in the numerical order of election of the sixty-one General Superintendents who have been elevated to that high office since the organization of the Church in 1784.

Bishop Goodsell was the youngest son of Rev. Buel Goodsell, who united with the New York Conference in 1814, and afterward served as a presiding elder in the Troy Conference, his district extending from Troy to Rouses Point, New York, and, above Whitehall, embracing both the New York and Vermont shores of Lake Champlain. Bishop Goodsell was born at Newburgh, New York, November 5, 1840, and died at his home in New York city December 5, 1909, in his seventieth year. He was admitted to the New York East Conference on trial in 1859, and remained in its fellowship until his elevation to the episcopacy in 1888, having served as Secretary of the Conference for sixteen years. During this period he served some of the leading charges in the Conferences. He was a member of the General Conferences of 1876, 1880, 1884, and 1888. In 1887 he was appointed to fill a vacancy in the corresponding secretaryship of the Board of Education, and was afterward elected permanently to that position. In announcing his election to the episcopacy THE CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE of May 31, 1888, said:

"As a preacher, he is clear, strong, and fervent, expressing his ideas in the best English, and his feelings with chastened warmth. Naturally conservative in action, he is more progressive in views than might be supposed.

"As a Bishop, we predict for him a course marked by discretion, courtesy, fidelity to details, and the unexceptionable performance of all public and official functions."

The Episcopal Address delivered by the Bishop at the General Conference of 1908 was without doubt the masterpiece among the deliverances that have marked these Conferences from the initial General Conference to that of 1908.

"In administration the Bishop brought all his judicial faculties into action and weighed every decision with the utmost care. He was never without anxiety lest he should fail to discriminate, and thus fail properly to adjust. As a presiding officer he was dignified, attentive and generally recollective. His parliamentary decisions were usually right and clearly stated, and he was never willingly abrupt. His addresses to the candidates were strong, diversified, earnestly delivered and practical. On some occasions he took up difficult questions of theology, eschatology, Church history, usually clarifying the subjects so that both the candidates for reception and for promotion, and the public would be able to comprehend his views. His oratorical powers were notable. He seemed to have universal knowledge. Literary and scientific pursuits had great charm for him. For increasing his store of words he invented methods of his own. For many years, of purpose, he made little or no use of a dictionary, believing that the best way to acquire a vocabulary of the best words and a knowledge of the meaning thereof was to study the writings of the best authors."

The public funeral services of Bishop Goodsell were held in Madison Avenue Church on December 7, in the presence of a great multitude of ministers and laymen. Among those who took part in the services were Bishops McDowell and Moore, and Drs. Buckley, North, Kelley, Cooke, MacMullen, and Watters. The interment was at Meriden, Connecticut.
